General and Mrs. Grant Breakfast at the White House.

FRED DOUGLASS' COLOR OFFENSIVE TO SOME NICE PEOPLE.

Impending Changes in the Foreign Service—Appointments to the Monetary Conference—People Who Want Places, etc., etc., etc.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON March 9.—Gov. Jewell chairman of the national committee has been here for some days and naturally would be informed as to the general policy of the new administration in regard to political affairs. In conversation with your correspondent Gov. Jewell said: I believe that the present administration will give us republicans in office the country over which will give us a republican party the country over. In many of the southern states we had no party for four years, so large a portion of the official patronage being in democratic hands. This condition of affairs I hope, believe and know, is going to be changed. I have had very satisfactory interviews with I won't say who, since I have been here and one thing you can set down as certain, that hereafter none but republicans will be put on guard.

Grant Consulted by the President on Appointments for Mexico, China and Japan.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Evening Commercial prints a Washington special from its editor which says Grant has been called here to advise with the president in regard to Mexican affairs and the China and Japan trade. The general says that they are the great points for the United States to play for. No doubt the general has been consulted in regard to the manner of men to be chosen to represent our government in these countries looking to securing the vast trade and commerce they can furnish. It is whispered here that Grant has been asked to suggest the person in his judgment most competent for the service. Rumor says that he mentioned several persons and that one name in particular a distinguished journalist, struck the president with most favor. Should he be selected it will be a great stroke for Garfield's administration. From all I can learn I am inclined to think that Bingham will be recalled from Japan.

The Grants at the White House.

General and Mrs. Grant breakfasted with President Garfield and family and remained an hour or two after in the executive mansion. An unusually large number called on the president to day.

White House Gossip.

There is some comment on the fact that Senator Conkling has not yet put in an appearance at the White House. As he has not crossed its threshold for over four years it is supposed that he may not know the way there. When Senator Blaine went to the White House with Garfield on inauguration day it was just 3 years and 1 months since he had visited the presidential mansion or held any communication with its occupants.

Loss in Interest by the Funding Bill Failure.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The extra interest to be paid on account of the failure to pass a funding bill before next winter will be about $10,000,000 on a 3½ per cent basis or $13,000,000 on a 3 per cent basis of refunding. There remains unsold $104,651,200 of 4 per cents which the secretary of the treasury may sell and with the proceeds purchase redeemable 5 per cents or 6 per cents. Whether he will think it wise to do this may be regarded as very doubtful.

A Distinguished Company.

John H. Starin entertained at dinner last night a distinguished company at Willard's hotel in commemoration of his retirement from congress. Among those present were Gen. Grant, P. M. Gen. James, Vice President Arthur, and a large number of senators and members of the house. The dinner was the most brilliant event of the season, both in regard to its cuisine and personal attendance. During the evening speeches were made by Representative Hooker of Mississippi, Senator Hawley, Starin, Hiscock and others.

Garfield's Temperance Views.

Upon receiving the portrait of Mrs. Hayes yesterday Garfield said: I have observed the significance which you have given to this portrait. From the standpoint you occupy and in connection with the work in which you are engaged what you have said concerning the evils of intemperance meets with my most hearty concurrence. I have been in my own way and in accordance with my own convictions an earnest advocate of temperance not in so narrow a sense as some, but in a very definite and practical sense. These convictions are deep and will be maintained. Whether I shall be able to meet the views of all people in regard to all phases of that question remains to be seen but I shall do what I can to abate the great evil of intemperance. I shall be glad to have this picture upon these walls and shall be glad to remember your kind expressions to me and my family, and in your effort to better mankind by your work I hope you will be guided by wisdom and that you will achieve great success.

Garfield to the Cobden Club.

LONDON, March 7.—The Daily Telegraph says: We understand that President Garfield has lately written a letter to the secretary of the Cobden Club in which, while expressing his inability for various patriotic reasons to carry out all the principles of the club, he approves all possible ventilation of the subject of free trade in America.

The Facts.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The only letter written by Garfield to any member of the Cobden Club was one addressed to the secretary in August last in reply to a letter from him. In this letter President Garfield said: "I do not believe in the principles of the Cobden Free Trade Club, but would be pleased to see full discussion of the question of tariff." President Garfield states that the language and sentiments attributed to his letter by the London Daily Telegraph are entirely incorrect.

An Extra Session Probable.

The president, Blaine and Windom now favor an extra session and unless the present status changes an extra session will be called about the middle of May when the republicans can control the house, and probably the senate also.

Blaine and an Extra Session.

Blaine's attention being called to a statement that he had said that an extra session of congress would be called, he answered: I have never made such a statement and furthermore have never heard the proposition discussed.

Senate Proceedings Yesterday.

The senate convened at noon. A telegram from the governor of Iowa was read announcing the appointment of J. W. McDill to fill the unexpired term of Senator Kirkwood. A message from the president was received, and the senate went into executive session. When the doors were opened the senate adjourned.

Appointments by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The president to day nominated Levi P. Morton U. S. minister to France; and Wm. M. Evarts, Allen G. Thurman and Timothy O. Howe commissioners on the part of the United States to the international monetary conference at Paris; David D. McClung surveyor of customs at Cincinnati; John W. Green collector of internal revenue for the second district of Iowa, and Robert S. Taylor of Indiana member of the Mississippi river improvement commission.

Confirmations.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The senate confirmed the nominations of Evarts, Thurman and Howe commissioners to the international monetary conference; Lot M. Morrill, collector of customs at Portland, Maine, and D. D. McClung, surveyor of customs at Cincinnati.

An Honest Statement.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon over the body of Harry Frieburn, an engineer of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Co., who died from injuries received at the recent collision near Severn. Among the witnesses was John Loy, conductor of the extra train. During the examination he said: Frieburn and I had orders read over to us twice by the dispatcher in Baltimore, and the accident was due to our carelessness. Harry is dead now, and I alone am responsible. The jury found that Frieburn came to his death by a collision which occurred through the negligence of said Frieburn, engineer, and John Loy, conductor of the south bound train.

The Paris Conference Appointments.

The appointments of Messrs. Everett, Thurman and Howe, as the United States commissioners to the international monetary conference, appears to give universal satisfaction, especially that of Judge Thurman, which aside from its being a graceful compliment is notably suitable alike, by reason of his familiarity with the subject involved and his fluent command of the French language. Thurman and Howe were among the first members of the senate to follow Jones of Nevada in his pronounced advocacy of bi-metalism and the re-establishment of a double standard in this country, and Everett, although not quite so far advanced in his position on this subject is equally earnest in his desire to make the coming conference a complete success. Senators and representatives from mining states are greatly pleased that provision has been made for American participation in this important council and are very sanguine that the result will be highly beneficial to our mineral interests. Senators Jones, of Nevada, and Hill, of Colorado, both express the belief that with an international acceptance of the rates of 15½ to 1, as the standard equation of the two precious metals silver will at once advance in price from 25 to 30 per ounce and maintain that value for many years. The effect of this of course would be to give a great impetus to silver mining and especially tend to make profitable the working of low grade ores. The Colorado papers have been quite earnest in urging the appointment of Senator Jones as a member of the conference, but in view of his already holding an office he could not be appointed legally, even if willing to serve.

The Iowa Appointment.

Another Ohio man has come to the front in the person of Judge James W. McDill, appointed to-day by Gov. Gear, of Iowa, to succeed Kirkwood in the U. S. senate. McDill is just 47 years old, was born at Monroe, Ohio, and lived in that state until 1850, when he removed to Iowa where he held several judicial positions and was then elected to congress serving two terms from 1873 to 1877. It is the general belief that Gov. Gear wants to be elected U. S. senator at the expiration of Kirkwood's term, and that he has been appointed in his own interest.

Mahone Still Silent.

Mahone again refused to enter either caucus to day. If he continues silent it is not improbable that the republicans and democrats will agree on some basis for organization.

Committee Assignment of Pacific Coast Senators.

The democratic caucus to day assigned senators Farley, Grover, Slater and Fair to committee positions as follows: Farley is to be chairman of the committee on mines and mining and retains his present position on the committee on commerce, postoffice and naval affairs. Slater is given the chairmanship of the committee on agriculture, is made a member of the pensions committee and remains in the committee on Indian affairs and territories. Grover by promotion becomes chairman of the military committee and remains in the committee on public lands, railroads and manufactures. Fair is provided for by assignment to the committee on mines and mining, public lands and railroads.

Assignment of Chairmanships by the Democratic Caucus.

The democratic caucus with much difficulty arrived at the conclusion to put Camden of West Virginia on the finance committee. Many democrats demurred at this action because Camden is president of a national bank and the democracy are opposed to national banks. He may even yet be changed. The democrats will complete the list and present it to the house to-morrow. They will be ratified Friday probably. The caucus has decided to assign Mahone to three or four committees including the railroad and military committees. The following chairmanships were agreed on: Elections, Saulsbury; foreign relations, Johnston; finance, Bayard; appropriations, Davis of West Virginia; commerce, Ransom; judiciary, Davis of Illinois; military, Grover; naval, McPherson; postoffices, Maxey; public lands, Jones of Florida; Indian affairs, Cooke; pensions, Grover; claims, Cockrill; patents, Coke; territories, Butler; railroads, Lamar; revision of laws, Garland; agriculture, Slater; manufactures, Williams; education and labor, Brown; mines and mining, Farley; District of Columbia, Harris; civil service, Walker; public buildings, Vest; improvement of Mississippi river and tributaries, Jones; transportation routes to seaboard, Beck; private land claims, Edmunds; revolutionary claims, Anthony; engrossed bills, Conkling; enrolled bills, Pugh; rules, Morgan; to examine the several branches of the civil service, Hampton; census, Pendleton; library, Voorhees; president al elections, Morgan; epidemic diseases, Harris; printing, Hill of Georgia; contingent expenses, Vance.

GENERAL BRADY AGAIN.

Charges of Corruption Made Against Him—He Completely Refutes Them.

NEW YORK, March 9.—A Tribune's Washington dispatch says: Another attempt to blacken the character of Second Assistant Postmaster General Brady by allegations of corruption in connection with letting of star route mail contracts is to be made. The chief mover in this instance is J. J. Hinds, who as U. S. marshal at Albany some time ago, was tried for being concerned in a conspiracy to extract certain papers relating to mail contracts from the files of the postoffice department. He was acquitted upon the ground that several of the witnesses were implicated in the same transactions. For several weeks affidavits from Hinds have been handed about in Washington and effort has been made to have official action against Brady upon them. They were placed in the hands of the district attorney and in those of the attorney general, and by the latter were handed during a cabinet meeting to Postmaster General Maynard, who caused an investigation to be made, after which they were returned to the attorney general with an endorsement that they merited no further attention. Subsequently they were placed in the hands of Representative Blackburn with whom they remained some time. To night they have been given to certain newspapers, and will doubtless immediately be published. The chief allegation is understood to be that Brady, Contractor Price and certain other men [illegible] entered into a conspiracy by the terms of which a contract was made for carrying the mails by a direct route from Las Vegas, New Mexico, to Albuquerque, that the price agreed upon was paid by the government while the mails were carried on the route only in part by a roundabout route over which another contract had been made and at the same time was being paid for.

Brady's attention was called to this matter to night by a correspondent and he explained it as follows: The contract from Las Vegas to Albuquerque was let for the purpose expected, the route. It actually had this result. The contract was let to Price, whose bid was the lowest one made. In the course of time it came to the knowledge of the department that the mails were being carried over a part of the way over the old route, but the expedition contracted for was nevertheless made. A special agent investigated the matter. Upon his report $4000 was retained from the amount due to Price, that being the proportion which would have been earned over that portion of the route served by other contractors. Another charge is in connection with the route from Las Vegas to Prescott, which charge was investigated and proved to be without foundation by a committee of congress a year ago. Several persons are mentioned by Hinds as being able to substantiate the allegations made by him. When the matter first came to Brady's knowledge he caused letters to be written to the persons mentioned and has their written replies declaring in emphatic terms that the statement in so far as the writers are concerned or have knowledge are false. Hinds declares that Brady received post office drafts from all contractors for his share of the corruption fund and that the record of the sixth auditor will show it. Sixth Auditor McGrew says in a letter to Brady: "I beg to state that an examination of the records of this office does not show any payment to you or to your order or for your benefit in any way or that you have been interested directly or indirectly in any drafts or orders of any contractor paid."

Charles Andrews, an attorney, is also referred to as the man through whom the facts were brought to the attention of the department. He writes that Hinds did ask him to take a case for him, but knowing Hinds' character he demanded to know its nature. When the papers reached him it proved to be simply a blackmailing matter in which he was expected to extort $6000 from a contractor for Hinds and as much more as he could get for himself.

Ex Senator Dorsey and the Hon. S. B. Elkins both of whom are referred to have written to a similar purport. Brady says that Hinds came to his house a few months ago and made proposals for a route over which it was not and perhaps would never be necessary to send the mails. When Gen. Brady said this in substance to Hinds the latter attempted to secure his purpose by threatening to make some damaging exposures. Thereupon Gen. Brady ordered him out of his house.

The "Times" on Hinds' Charges against Brady.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Times prints Hinds' statement under the head "Glaring Frauds Exposed" and says in a column editorial: "Like the river and harbor job the star route job has so many friends in congress that the flimsiest of excuses has sufficed to cover up what is to use the mildest term gross extravagance in the postal service. These extravagancies have caused a large deficiency in the appropriation for postoffices and post roads and have nevertheless been sanctioned by congress. Brady has been a persistent lobbyist whenever any attempt has been made to curtail the expense of his business and congressmen have been found ready to believe that a mail service which was let at $10,000 should be increased to $130,000 a year for the good of the public. Now that a practical and active man is at the head of the postoffice department, we may be certain that the gross abuses which have flourished under Brady's management will cease to exist."

PROBABLE DIPLOMATIC CHANGES.

Fred Douglass to be given a Foreign Mission—Pacheco and the Mexican Appointment—Other Places.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—An intimate friend of the president said to day that he would probably tender Fred Douglass a mission in place of the marshalship of the district. The colored question has been a serious one during the administration of Douglass under Hayes, and it is said it times to have made the situation unpleasant for all concerned. The marshal here is in a measure part of the executive household and in the capacity of an equal and many who had been used to meet persons of Mr. Douglass' race only in the capacity of servants have not been pleased. In Washington more than almost any other place the prejudice of race lingers and it is thought that a more congenial place can be found for the present marshal. The mission to Brazil where numerous colored men hold high official position, is spoken of as the most desirable in the gift of the government.

As far as the other places on this continent are concerned, Gen. A. S. Hurlburt of Illinois is said to be working for the Mexican mission, and Governor now Congressman Pacheco, of California, will be strongly recommended for the position. He is of Mexican extraction, while thoroughly American also, by birth and education, and an orthodox republican. His blood, and the fact that he speaks the Spanish language as well as English, will be urged in his behalf as tending to give him a higher place in the confidence of the Mexicans than almost any other man who could be selected. This it is said will have peculiar weight at this time when the attention of the business men of this country is being turned upon Mexico and there is an inclination to atone for past infringements upon international courtesy alleged to have been suffered by our sister republic at our hands. One of the first appointments to leading diplomatic places on the continent, it is said will be a successor to Minister Christiancy. It is rumored also that Hilliard will not be retained in the Chilian mission. Mr. E. V. Smalley is said to be anticipating a foreign mission and Col. John Hay, it is said, will be tendered one.

Ex-Attorney General Williams who went out of office poor, has made $75,000 at his law practice. He will soon go to Oregon and he may become a United States senator.—New York Herald.

Bosh about a Raid on Mexico.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Herald reviewing Mexican affairs characteristically says: It is whispered that vast designs are afoot with reference to the regions whose mineral wealth will soon cause California and Nevada to hide their diminished heads. If any credence can be given to several of our inspired contemporaries the new plot against the independence of Mexico far exceeds in magnitude the abortive design of Hayes in 1877 which was so promptly frowned down by our new premier. As however Blaine must be supposed to have the courage of convictions it is soothing to reflect upon the dismay which his appointment as secretary of state must have carried into the camp of the relentless plotters against the peace of the two great American republics.

Sympathy, Money and Soldiers for the Boers.

NEW YORK, March 9.—From the Tribune: News of the British defeat at Majuba Mountain has imparted fresh impetus to the movement in favor of the Boers which was started a month ago in this city by the Transvaal sympathizers committee. [illegible] Otis, treasurer of the organization is in daily receipt of money from Americans, Dutchmen and Irishmen. Part of the money will be used to pay the expenses of a coming mass meeting at Cooper Union which has been postponed a few days. Henry Ward Beecher and Col. Robt. Ingersoll have been requested by the committee to speak at the meeting. The committee has invited Wm. H. Vanderbilt, John Jay, Rev. R. Heber Newton, A. D. Morgan, Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, Clarkson N. One half of the dues are to be received from active members and all dues received from associated members are to be paid into the incinerant fund. Bengless, chaplain of the Brooklyn navy yard, was chosen president of the society.

EADS AND HIS SCHEMES.

He Proposes to Examine the Entrance to the Columbia River—Why he Thinks his Isthmus Railway will Succeed.

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—Capt. Jas. B. Eads who arrived here yesterday will start for Mexico in a few days to have his Tehauntepec grant confirmed by the Mexican congress. He will then go to Tampico where some of his engineers are surveying the harbor for the United States government. Thence he will proceed to the Isthmus where he will spend a month and make a thorough inspection for his ship railway. He will then sail for San Francisco for the purpose of consulting the engineer of the state of California and to examine the mouth of the Sacramento river. From there he goes to Oregon where he will inspect the mouth of the Columbia river and Humboldt bay. He will then return to St. Louis and shortly afterwards visit Toronto where he will inspect the harbor at the invitation of the British government, after which he will sail for England and Holland. Capt. Eads is thoroughly satisfied that his ship railway scheme will be successful. His advices from Mexico are even more favorable than he anticipated. He has three parties of engineers now at work on the Isthmus and rapid advance is being made in surveys. The Mexican government is also aiding him in having eight engineers and a gang of seventy laborers engaged in surveying and cutting a passage twelve feet wide through the forest from a point on the Coatzacoalcos river 35 miles from the gulf where the railway is to begin. Capt. Eads says that the reason why he feels so sure that the railway will be built is because there are three possibilities either one of which is almost certain. I believe, he says, that congress will give us the legislation asked for. In fact I am almost sure of it, but if America will not do this as the Mexican concession to me names no particular government, I shall carry the grant to England and see what will be done there. They will not be blind to its advantages if congress is, and in the event that I can get no government aid, I can build the railway by private enterprise. I have canvassed the situation so thoroughly that I know that this can be [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] no government aid [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

CHICAGO RENT RATES.

Extraordinary Rise in Business and Residence Rents—Last Year's Rates Doubled.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The rapid appreciation in rents is getting to be a serious matter with tenants [illegible]. [illegible] business is almost [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] renting [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] What is true [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ranges from 15 to 40 per cent. One case is known in which a furniture firm which last year paid $400 was asked to pay $3000 for a three years lease, and after casting about and finding no other building available was compelled to accede to the terms. In another instance a wholesale firm on State street whose rent has been $4,500 will pay $6000 the coming year. Agents as well as renters and owners consider this a genuine rise in rents not an engineered one and it may be stated that the business prosperity and growing activity of every branch of industry is a further warrant for the advance.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

House of Commons.

LONDON, March 8.—After the rejection of several Irish amendments progress was reported on the bill. Harcourt gave notice that if the consideration of the bill in committee was not finished at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon he would move that the remaining amendments be put forthwith.

A Bungling Attempt at Fraud.

LONDON, March 9.—A deputation representing the Liverpool provision trade which was presented in the commons when forged telegrams designed to cause the board of trade to take action against American pork were received, consisted of Hargrave, Bower and Sinclair. The recent action of France and pending question by Hartland to Mundella, vice president of the council which was answered in the commons on the 1st inst. induced the Liverpool provision trade to send a deputation to protest against hostile action. One of the telegrams addressed to Hartland urged him to press his question asserting that the hog disease was assuming alarming proportions and that more deaths were reported. The message to Mundella told him not to be misled by the deputation, all of whom were heavily interested, and asserted that the disease was assuming alarming proportions. Detectives are endeavoring to discover the sender of the forged telegrams, but success is doubtful.

Irish Affairs in the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 9.—In the house of commons this afternoon several Irish amendments to the arms bill were rejected. The home secretary, opposing one giving persons arrested under the act right of a jury trial, said that in the present state of Ireland there was no reasonable prospect of obtaining either witnesses or juries in agrarian cases. The present agitation is undoubtedly a fenian conspiracy under another name. Various Irish members protested against the assertion of Capt. Nolan as an argument against summary proceedings and pointed out that he had that very day received a telegram from Galway announcing that two persons had been arrested whom he believed to be totally incapable of suspected crimes.

At three o'clock Parnell was speaking against the government endeavoring in subservience to the Tories to abolish jury trial for political offenses, when the chairman put the amendment to vote. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 2 [illegible]. Other amendments were rejected by similarly overwhelming majorities and the bill passed through committee.

On a question to report the arms bill to the house Parnell claimed the right to speak, alleging that it [illegible] that it [illegible] taken [illegible] with [illegible] clauses and amendment.

The chair ruled that he could not be heard and the speaker upheld the ruling.

Gladstone will give notice upon the consideration tomorrow of the bill as amended he will move that after ten o'clock any amendment be put forthwith.

More Arrests.

DUBLIN, March 9.—Boyton declares that he is an American citizen and claimed the protection of the United States.

It is understood that Harrington and Power, local [illegible] were also arrested. Each prisoner was presented with a copy of a warrant specifying the charge on which he was arrested. Keogh is an extensive farmer. Walsh's warrant charges him with intimidation in county Mayo. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Nolley a traverser.

Coercion in Ireland.

DUBLIN, March 9.—The Gazette proclaims County Westmeath under the coercion act. Brennan has stated that Parnell would not visit Cork until he knew the provisions of the land bill. Martin O'Halloran, a prominent land leaguer, was arrested at Longhrea. Walsh is chairman of the Castlebar branch land league and town commissioner. The charge against Boynton is that he is suspected of having since the 30th of September incited persons to murder. Walsh and Keogh are charged with inciting persons not to pay their rent and intimidation. The prisoners were cheered on their way to the jail. Elaborate precautions were taken to prevent rescue. O'Hall ran is secretary of the Kilconnell land league and charged with Boycotting.

The League Above Creeds.

DUBLIN, March 9.—At a meeting of the league the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, A general union is taking place between the Protestants and Catholics in Ulster in the cause of the league, therefore

Resolved, That we earnestly appeal to the Catholics in Ulster to hold no demonstration on St. Patrick's day in order to prevent religious discord.

Dillon said that men of County Derry have already decided to abandon their processions.

The land league intends to investigate every arrest carefully and place the particulars before the British public. Boynton is an American citizen of Irish descent. Walsh is a cousin of John W. Walsh, one of the traversers now on the way to New Zealand.

England Gains.

LISBON, March 9.—The chamber of deputies after several days' debate with closed doors adopted the Lorenzo Marquez treaty with England. The treaty makes no concession of territory to England, but gives her the right of way for commercial and military purposes. England thus gains access by Delagoa bay to her South African colonies, which is an important and a strategic commercial advantage.

Emigration from Germany.

LONDON, March 9.—A correspondent of the Times at Berlin comments on the great increase of emigration to the United States and says that whole villages are described by the local papers as emigrating from Posen, Prussia proper and Schleswig. American emigration agents however, dare not publicly set forth the advantages of the various states they represent as they are warned by the American legation it would be unable to help if they should get into trouble with the authorities. M. Wandel, an American citizen of Hungarian extraction who two years ago was forbidden to lecture in Berlin on emigration, has just been equally unsuccessful on a second visit designed to persuade the authorities of the folly of impeding emigration. It appears, however, that the precautions against the exodus of young men has somewhat abated in south Germany. The German government particularly aims to divert emigration from the United States.

Pooling their Issues.

BERLIN, March 9.—Germany and Austria are deliberating with a view to establishing joint action at the monetary conference at Paris.

Fire at Paris.

The Ashantee War.

CAPE COAST CASTLE, March 9.—All apprehensions of the Ashantee war have ceased. The king has sent a reply saying that he desires peace. He asks the delivery of fugitives, but asserts that he never intended to make war.

Inaugural reminiscences are the style just now with the eastern papers. The best stories told are of Lincoln. A correspondent writing of his inauguration says:

The inauguration committee submitted two programmes and asked the president elect which he preferred. Mr. Lincoln threw one leg over the back of his chair and replied as follows: "When I was practicing law in Illinois a client of mine, a peculiar sort of fellow, was brought before the court and the judge asked him: 'Do you swear or affirm?' 'Mr. Judge,' my client replied, 'I don't care a damn which.'"

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The Kalloch Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Deputy Sheriff Thomas O'Brien heard six shots. He saw DeYoung fall with the second shot with a pistol in his hand. J. M. Parker, a merchant was a member of the municipal committee of the new constitution party and on friendly terms with Charles DeYoung. A question as to whether he had heard Charles DeYoung, in the summer of 1879 previous to the shooting of defendant's father by DeYoung, utter threats against the older Kalloch or his family or any member thereof was objected to and a long argument ensued. The question was finally allowed and the witness answered that he did not.

This afternoon J. M. Parker, chairman of the finance committee of the late new constitution party, continued his testimony to the effect that Charles DeYoung had frequently in conversation with witness announced his intention of driving the Kalloch family out of the state, referring particularly to the prisoner. On one occasion in a restaurant he drew a pistol saying that if he failed to drive them out by means of his paper there was another way that he would have no hesitation in shooting a man who stood in his way.

The prosecution sought to introduce documentary evidence showing that the Chronicle had subsequently attacked witness for his conduct of the affairs of the municipal committee thereby engendering feeling toward DeYoung on the part of witness but the evidence was ruled out and witness testified that his relations with DeYoung remained friendly to the time of the latter's death. The defense then submitted the record of the police court and of department No. 11 of the superior court to prove the acquittal of the prisoner. The court admitted the record but denied the plea of acquittal to which exception was taken.

This afternoon the defense introduced Richard Gray of the C. P. R. R. freight department, who testified to the receipt of various packages of printed matter from Boston, which the defense claims were the Kalloch pamphlets.

The Proposed Jeannette Search Ship.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The Bulletin a few days ago published an editorial article from which it appears that negotiations for the sale to the government of the steam whaler Mary and Ellen for a cruise in search of the Jeannette had been completed by the claims of an Alliance for commissions. It is known that preparations have been making to fit her out for another whaling voyage, and it was feared that the negotiations had fallen through. Last night however a telegram was received by the engineer in charge of the whaler instructing him to immediately stop proceeding any further furnishings and supplies for the steamer. The dispatch is from William Lewis, owner of the vessel, in Bedford, and it is stated that negotiations had probably been consummated for the sale of the Mary and Ellen. The general opinion to-day in marine circles is that the United States government has purchased her and that she will be sent north early in May on the Jeannette search and relief expedition.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, March 9.

Court met at 10:30 A. M., full bench being present.

The following gentlemen having passed a successful examination were admitted to practice at the bar: Geo. R. Skipworth and W. J. Palmer of Albany; Seth R. Hammer and Chas. A. Johns of Salem; Thos. Fitzgerald, Henry McGinn, Jonathan Bourne and Chas. F. McCormack of Portland; J. W. Bennett, of Empire City, and J. C. Fullerton, of Roseburg.

Chief Justice Lord in presenting the applicants with their diplomas complimented them as a class on their proficiency, indicative as it was of close study and a thorough knowledge of law, remarking incidentally however that in one or two cases the examination proved hardly satisfactory to the court, and it hesitated somewhat in granting their admission, and in passing them it should be with the understanding that in future examinations a more rigid enforcement of the rules regulating the answers to questions would be observed by the court.

It was ordered that the court take a recess until 1:30 to 1:30 P. M., when the case of Smith vs Cato & Baum would come up for hearing.

The following cases have been added to the docket of the court of the third district since our last report:

Fanling and John Page resps vs Andrew Finley et al apps; appeal from Polk county.

David Cahn app vs John Conner, administrator of the estate of H. K. W. Clark deceased, resp; appeal from Linn county.

OUR EXPORTS.

It is certainly gratifying to all true Americans to know that of late years our exports have largely exceeded our imports not alone in such staple articles as wheat and beef but in almost every branch of industry. Ten years ago nearly all the perfumery and toilet articles used in this country were imported from Europe. To-day we not only manufacture for ourselves but are large exporters to South America, China, Japan and the Colonies. The immense growth of this particular industry on the Pacific Coast is simply astonishing. Slaven who is now one of the largest cologne makers in the world last year exported some 1,000,000 bottles of his famous Yosemite Cologne. For sale by Woodard, Clarke & Co., Portland, Oregon.

THE AMERICAN RAILROADS.

Albert Fink Answers Judge Black's Charge of Extortionate Charges against the Railroads of the Country.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Albert Fink replies in the World to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

After satirical allusions to Black's [illegible] manner of [illegible] which he [illegible] letter he says:

I propose to show conclusively that railroads [illegible] [illegible] not only been no detriment to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] committed no robberies at all. Yes more, that they have been the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] have rendered to the people of the United States and that they are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] make the corrections. Of the 2,424,000,000 bushels of grain raised in the United States in 18 [illegible] 000 bushels found their way to the four Atlantic ports and of these [illegible] bushels were carried by canal and the remainder by rail. About 50 per cent of the grain which arrived at the seaboard was exported in 1880. Five cents on this grain amount to $10,000,000 and the total earnings from export of grain carried by railways east of Chicago to about $11,000,000. Surely these amounts cannot be looked upon as a tax paid by the people of the United States. It is actually a sum collected by the people from the consumers of American grain in foreign countries, railroads acting only as collectors. Of the amounts collected [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] men working on the track [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to manufacturers who furnish material to railroads [illegible] [illegible] coal and ore, to butchers, tailors and merchants who supply food and clothing to all these people, all get a share of the money collected from the foreign consumer for transportation services rendered them by the railroads of this country. There is so much wealth added to this nation instead of a tax levied upon the people. Then the other 4 per cent is money collected from other countries being about 4½ per cent on the capital invested [illegible] [illegible] of this country which by their capital enterprise and public spirit have furnished to the people of the United States a great system of railroads extending into the far west and who have made it possible by the lowest railroad transportation charges known in the world that the farmer of Kansas and Nebraska and Iowa can compete in the markets of Europe in the products of his labor with the farmer that lives on the Black Sea and other grain producing districts in eastern Europe thousands of miles nearer the market. Only 40 per cent of the total amount collected for transportation services represents only a small interest on the capital invested [illegible] those fellow citizens of Judge Black whom he is pleased to designate as robbers and public plunderers and whom Senator Windom believes will finally deprive this great country of its liberties and prosperity.

LOSSES BY FIRE

A well known insurance journal—The Chronicle—published at New York has issued in pamphlet form an exhibit of losses by fires in the United States and Canada for five years past. The tables show that the aggregate losses were $405 26[illegible] 700 of which the insurance companies bore more than one half or $219 182 800. The destruction is at the rate of eighty million dollars a year—a vast total and prodigious loss. The great fire at Chicago [illegible] $160 000 000. This was an appalling disaster. But at the rate of eighty millions per annum we regularly burn up a Chicago every two years. The fact that a considerable part of the destroyed property was insured does not alter the fact that the whole of it is absolutely swept out of existence. Other value has come and will come to take the place of it but what is new is less by that appalling aggregate than what would have been. Estimating generously the average man's producing capacity at $400 per annum this sum the annual loss by fire in the United States and Canada—represents a full year's labor of two hundred thousand men. That is the work of this vast number of men is annually obliterated goes up in flame and smoke and must be set down as irrecoverable loss. Of the aggregate loss shown by the tables about $345 000 000 fell on the United States or $69 000 000 a year.

It does not appear that the last five years have been more disastrous than other half decades, the absence of great conflagrations during 1878 and 1880 compensating for the heavy losses of 1877 and 1879. The lightest loss of the five years was in 1878 when fire destroyed $70 266 [illegible]00 in the United States and Canada. The heaviest was in 1877 when the loss was $97 526 800. Eighty million dollars is the average fire loss of the republic and the dominion year after year and this stupendous sacrifice of wealth is draining the energies of the people in a manner which should arrest the attention of every thoughtful person. It would be a great error to take comfort from the fact that half the losses or more were repaid by the insurance companies for in the first place the insured paid over to the companies this money in premiums and more and in the next place the loss is none the less complete because shared between the companies and the owners of the property. We are told that it was upon the data of the great Chicago and Boston conflagrations that the late A T Stewart predicted the panic of 1873, and yet the people regard with little concern a biennial loss equal to the greater of these two conflagrations. The prevention of this appalling fire loss is a subject which should engage the earnest attention of statesmen. There is no easier way to increase the national wealth than to adopt measures for the reduction of the loss from fire. Such reduction can be accomplished. Experience in other countries proves it for there seems to be no doubt that the loss from fire in America is greater than in any other part of the globe.

We may add from these tables a statement of losses and insurance in Oregon for five years past:

	Losses	Insurance
187[illegible]	$193,200	$ [illegible]7 200
187[illegible]	183 800	77 400
1878	467 900	193 700
1879	681 500	4[illegible]7 100
1880	445 500	[illegible]7 800

TELEGRAPH MATTERS

It is announced that the American Union Rapid Telegraph Company has already completed its lines from New York to Boston and that it will have direct connection with Chicago in a few days. The capital stock of the company has recently been much increased. Rates it is said will be lower than the Western Union's scale.

Whether this is to be an actual and sustained attempt to compete with the Western Union time only can tell. It may be merely a little scheme to make a show of opposition and lay out a plan for a new game of consolidation or absorption. It is only fair however to say that in many quarters other expectations of it appear to be entertained. Confidence indeed is expressed that the new enterprise will be carried into execution. This appears to be based on the following considerations, viz,

First the great bulk of the commercial business of the country is now done through the telegraph. It has become such a necessity of the ordinary daily business of the country that it has almost superseded the mails as a means of communication. Hence it is of vital importance to all business interests that telegraphic service should be had at the lowest practicable rates. A second reason is that the cost of constructing and maintaining telegraph lines is so small in proportion to the revenues received by them, particularly between the great centers of business, that there will be constant temptation for competition to enter the field so long as a disproportion between outlay and revenue is supposed to exist. As the country grows wealthier and the circle of large capitalists seeking opportunities for profitable investment is constantly and rapidly widening there is likely to be a growing disposition on their part to encroach on the fields now under exclusive control of single telegraph companies. There is one way indeed in which the latter can protect themselves from these encroachments, and this is to reduce and keep their rates to so low a standard that no independent companies can hope to compete with them. This, indeed it is asserted is to be the future policy of the consolidated companies. The business sagacity that controls them will pretty certainly see the necessity of voluntarily adopting this policy as a measure of protection wherever at least there is probability of competition.

An interesting chapter of politics is furnished by a dispatch from New York to the Chicago Tribune. Though the programme as outlined was changed by the reluctance of Judge Folger to accept the position of secretary of the treasury and his final declination of it, yet the report lets in a great deal of light on republican politics in New York. It may be added that the statements are confirmed by numerous incidents well known to those acquainted with the inwardness of New York politics. We publish this account for the reason that it puts reports heretofore given only in fragments, in a connected and complete form. After Judge Folger declined the treasury the new arrangement by which the postmaster general was assigned to New York was made. Mr James is understood to be equally acceptable to Gov Cornell and to Vice President Arthur. He is on friendly terms with Senator Conkling, but is not among his partisans or personal followers. The statements referred to taken in connection with the comments of leading journals since the formation of the cabinet together with the fact that Mr. Blaine's influence is apparent in the make-up of the new administration would indicate that Mr Conkling was not carrying the weight of the empire to the extent boasted by some of his effusive admirers.

Mr Justin McCarthy sketches with vigor and sympathy the relations of tenant and landlord to "The Irish Land Question," in the March International Review. Of the way landlords frequently have of adopting slight excuses for raising the rent he says: "I have heard of cases and cases certainly true, in which a man's putting a few flowers in his window—a rare adornment among the Irish peasant class—has brought the agent around to tell him that as he can afford to grow ornamental flowers he can afford to pay his landlord a higher rent. I have heard of a case in which the fact that a man's daughter went to chapel on the Sunday with a string of glass beads valued perhaps at a few cents round her neck brought him a visit from the agent and the assurance that as his daughter could put on ornaments he could well afford to pay more rent to his landlord."

Capt Eads is not discouraged by his reverse in congress. He intends to push ahead with the ship railroad scheme at Tehuantepec and he believes that congress will yet give him the aid he has asked for. Why does he not take his project into Wall street? A speculating public which swallows all sorts of schemes by millions and tens of millions ought not to hesitate about a little affair like this, which can be had at the cheap figure of fifty millions or so. A little matter that will interest us greatly here is the announcement that Capt Eads is coming to look at the mouth of the Columbia river. The opinion of the man who deepened the mouth of the Mississippi cannot be considered unimportant.

Statistics of the manufacture of beer in Europe recently published show that the consumption in England and on the continent amounts to 2 716 500 000 gallons annually of which Great Britain consumes 1,050 000 000 and Germany 900,000,000—thus showing the English to be the greatest beer consumers in the old world surpassing even the Germans. In the former of these countries the annual consumption amounts to 82 gallons per head for every man woman and child while in Belgium it amounts to 41 gallons per head and in Germany to 22 gallons.

Mr Dillon intimates that Ireland would like to make the Green Isle one of the United States. Mr Dillon's oppressed friends are heartily welcome in this country where they can earn a good living with something for a rainy day by working for it, but Ireland entire is hardly necessary for our happiness. Besides there is British territory nearer home that must be given the first chance to join in our prosperity by annexation.

The Canadians propose to engage in the colony business on a scale of official magnitude. Manitoba is to be the objective point of the colonization scheme and Ireland is the territory to be drawn upon for subjects. The terms proposed are apparently liberal not to say seductive and may lure the land leaguers from the tumultuous isle but the leaders urge their countrymen to hold fast to the old sod.

Congress is berated by the New York World because it refused to repeal the war taxes levied on bank deposits. The thick-witted congressman seems to think that this is a tax on the banks. But as the World says "To tax deposits was even in the beginning a monstrous idea for it was in effect a tax on the savings of industry, and therefore on the disposition to save."

Douglass the Ute chief who was concerned in the murder of Agent Meeker and other worse atrocities of that occasion has been released from Fort Leavenworth and sent to Fort Garland under an escort. It is really hard lines for Douglass who is about the only participant in the White river matinee who has not received his reward in cash.

A Sunday Resting Society has been formed at Chicago. Its first publication gives the Sunday statutes. These squarely forbid all theaters and shows on Sunday, all labor with the usual exceptions and the sale of intoxicating drinks. This shows that the law is sufficient, but all these prohibited things are openly freely and largely practiced.

New York has tired of exhibitions of foolish brutality and so the last walking match was a failure and one now in progress is dull and profitless. An ordinance prohibiting these exhibitions was recently introduced in the New York council.

The Afghan war expenses rise from the estimates like arrears of pensions appropriations. It was to cost $15 000 000, but already $85 000 000 have been expended and the bill not paid nor the scientific frontier established.

Minister Marsh has spent a thousand dollars a year more than his salary in Italy and wants to come home. No doubt an Ohio man can be found who will take the job off his hands and make a little something out of it.

They order these things singularly in Arizona. Lizzie Gallagher was pardoned from the penitentiary of that territory the other day in order to permit her to accept an offer of marriage.

THURSDAY MORNING MARCH 10 1881

CITY.

PASSED AWAY.—Mrs J J Shaw, wife of Hon J J Shaw, county judge of Marion county, died at Salem on Monday last, her funeral taking place from the Baptist church in that city yesterday at 2 o'clock P M. Mrs Shaw was a lady of rare worth, whose traits of character endeared her to the hearts of all who knew her. Kind and sympathetic in the hour of bereavement, generous to the poor and a friend to all, her place in the busy scenes of life will not soon be filled. She was the daughter of John Berry, Esq, of Salem, and the sister of Mrs Geo W Gray. Her illness has been long and severe and death must have proved a source of relief to the deceased, who since the death of her daughter Minnie several months ago, has been an invalid.

ST PATRICK'S DAY.—A meeting was held last evening by the several committees appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the proper observance of St Patrick's Day in this city. Besides the members of the committee, there were present Rev M J Gleason, Grand Marshal M Gleason and Orator R C White. It was arranged that all Irish societies of the city that desire to take part in the celebration on the 17th should report to the grand marshal, M Gleason, at No 3 Morrison street, before Saturday, 12th inst. By reporting in time the grand marshal will assign them positions in the line.

FAMILIAR DOCTRINAL LECTURES.—From now until Easter there will be services on Thursday evenings in the Unitarian chapel. The pastor will present in succession the essential doctrines of the Christian religion, as understood by Unitarians. These lectures will not be controversial in character, but will aim to answer questions of doctrine upon their side as they affect character. The singing will be social, and while all are cordially invited, the lectures are especially commended to the young and to the advanced classes of the Sunday school.

IN BUSINESS AT THE DALLES.—Mr Will J Strong, son of Judge Strong, of this city, has recently completed the purchase of a stock of saddlery, harness, &c, and shipped the same to The Dalles, where he has secured a store and opened for the patronage of the citizens of that city. Mr Strong has been connected with the house of J B Congle & Co of this city for many years, and understands the business. The firm will be known as W J Strong & Co, and we wish them success in their undertaking.

HELD TO ANSWER.—Yesterday morning the preliminary examination of Harry Hembrie for the shooting of James McGrew, was concluded in Justice McGuire's court. J M Pittenger conducted the examination on the part of the state and Mr Yocum and C Curtis appeared for the defendant. Hembrie was held to answer to the charge of an assault with a dangerous weapon, and his bonds were fixed at $250. Bonds were promptly given and the prisoner discharged from custody.

LANDED SAFELY.—Last Sunday the steamer Traveler was chartered to convey material to the Cascades for the transportation of the little launch Gold Dust overland around the rapids. The Traveler with Capt U B Scott and L A Bailey at the wheel and Engineer W E Harris at the throttle, proceeded without difficulty to the middle landing where she discharged her freight with safety and without a jar.

APPOINTED CONSTABLE.—Mr George H Ward, who until recently was connected with the letter carrier system of Portland, was appointed constable yesterday by the county court, of Western precinct. Mr Ward qualified at once and entered upon the duties of the position. Mr Ward is an honest, honorable and capable young gentleman and will make a competent and efficient officer of the law.

FOR SCHOOL CLERK.—Mr Chas A M Myers will be a candidate for school clerk at the election next Monday. He is possessed of the business qualifications necessary for the position and if elected is certain to fill the duties of the office to the satisfaction of school interests and of the tax payers in general.

ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.—Among the young gentlemen admitted to practice in the supreme court yesterday, are Messrs Jonathan Bourne, Jr, Henry McGinn, Milton M Smith and Charles F McCormac. The two former especially passed splendid examinations, and all are to be congratulated on their advancement.

DISCHARGED.—Samuel Hess, who was charged with the abduction of Miss Annie Fuller of Washington county, was discharged yesterday by Justice Bushwiler, the evidence against him being insufficient to warrant further proceedings.

KNEE FRACTURED.—While a fifteen year old lad named Daily was riding down Third street yesterday morning, the horse slipped near the corner of Yamhill and fell upon the boy, fracturing his knee cap.

TAKEN TO SALEM.—A A White, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years by Judge Deady, was taken to the penitentiary yesterday morning in custody of one of the U S deputy marshals.

STILL IN CUSTODY.—The American ship Canada, which was libeled for debt Tuesday, is still in the custody of the U S marshal and sheriff, not having yet furnished the required bonds.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN PORT.—The steamer State of California arrived in port yesterday afternoon at 10, having made a rapid and pleasant voyage.

BRIEF NOTES.

Another suicide.

School election next Monday.

Important street improvements in East Portland.

The "State" made the quickest trip of the year.

Splendid programme at the Espinosa concert to night.

How can you ever load a vessel without the block and? We invite somebody to tackle this.—New York News. A rattling good way is to bore a hole in her bottom and load her with water.—S F Chronicle. The lubber that would hatch such a bad pun ought to be keelhauled.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr H M Deal has taken the P O Millinery store and will add largely to the stock shortly.

Hall & Andrews, auctioneers, in the south end, have made quite a success of it and are pushing ahead sure.

Mr W S James, the well known penman, has returned to this city, and is prepared to execute orders in his line of artistic workmanship. Orders can be left at J K Gill & Co's bookstore.

Cutting down prices. That is the way Fishel & Roberts announce a decided reduction. Why this reduction? Simply because the stock is too large to carry in view of the early reception of new goods recently purchased by Mr Fishel, who has been in New York. Now if you wish to save several dollars in a purchase call on this firm.

FIRE ON THE OTHER SIDE.

At half past 1 o'clock this morning a bright light was discovered in the direction of the car shops, which increased with every moment. The flames illuminated the horizon and cast a wonderfully beautiful rosy tint over the dark bluish green canopy. It was thought that the Brooklyn mills were burning, but the lateness of the hour prevented OREGONIAN reporters from visiting the scene and getting particulars for this morning's issue.

PERSONAL.

Mr John P Rush, recently deputy county clerk of Lancaster county, Nebraska, arrived in the city a few days ago. He comes to take a position as private secretary to Mr A W Ocobock, a gentleman who represents a number of eastern capitalists.

Don't forget that Warren's Music House, 92 Morrison st, is closing out at cost. Great bargains are offered. Shelving, counters, show cases and safe for sale.

SUICIDE.

FRED. C. HILL ENDS HIS LIFE WITH A PISTOL BALL.

He Leaves a Strange Letter, but Gives no Cause for the Deed. The Coroner's Inquest, etc, etc.

Fred C Hill, a young man aged about [illegible] years, committed suicide in room No [illegible] at the Occidental Hotel about [illegible] o'clock yesterday morning, by shooting himself through the brains with a pistol. Hill was almost a total stranger in the city.

On the [illegible] of February he came to Portland from Puget Sound and registered at the Occidental Hotel. Since that date up to the time of his death he had been stopping at that hotel. He appeared at all times happy and contented—healthy in body and mind. He seemed to be in no need of means as he met his bills promptly.

Tuesday evening he notified the clerk of the hotel that he was going down to Knappton and the lower Columbia and desired to be called in time—6 o'clock—to take the Astoria boat. During the evening Hill was smoking and chatting pleasantly, and up to the hour of retiring there was nothing in his language or manner that would lead one to suppose he even remotely meditated committing the rash and awful deed.

He retired at a reasonable hour, after giving orders to be called early. At 5 o'clock Mr [illegible], the night clerk, went to room 47 and rapping on door endeavored to awaken Hill. Receiving no response Stilts continued to knock. At last he got upon a chair and looked into the room over the transom. He was horrified on observing the lifeless body of Hill lying on the floor, [illegible] the alarm was quickly given and the [illegible] notified.

From an examination of the room it appears that Hall had retired to bed and had risen again—probably about 3 o'clock. After putting on his pantaloons he threw his coat, hat and vest on the bed and taking a letter from a pocket he laid it on the table. He then took a large Colt's revolver from the stand where he had placed it on retiring, and standing before the mirror fired. The ball passed through his brain, striking above and back of the right ear, passing completely through his head on a straight line. Death must have been instantaneous. The one last sudden crushing pain gave his head a jerk, [illegible] the muzzle of the pistol against his head, leaving a black ring of burnt powder. He partially turned and fell alongside the bed with his head beneath the window. He clung to the pistol and this in falling when found. This fact plainly told the story of the deed. The floor was deluged with blood, the scene being one of horror.

On the little table a letter was found which read as follows:

DEAR SIR: I am or have been a member of the Odd Fellows at Port Gamble but am not in good standing now. I have enclosed a certificate of deposit for $100 on the bank of British Columbia which I should like to have sent to my mother, Mrs Thomas Hill, Burlington, Vermont, after of course paying all the necessary expenses of planting me. I have besides in my pocket $18. I am not owing anything here, having paid my bill last night. Yours,
FRED C. HILL

Coroner Garnold caused the body together with the trunk, etc, to be removed to the morgue. In looking over the papers of deceased the following letter of recommendation was found:

PORT GAMBLE, W T, Nov 11 1878.

To All Whom it May Concern: The bearer of this, Fred C Hill, has been in our employ for the past eighteen months, during which time we have found him strictly sober, reliable and attentive to business and cheerfully recommend him to any one who may need his services.
PUGET SOUND MILL CO,
Per W D Scott.

A jury was empaneled and an inquest held. During the inquisition several witnesses were examined, among whom were Edward Stolte, Thomas F Swanwick and H J Scott. After hearing all the testimony the jury returned the following verdict:

We, the undersigned coroner's jury, find that the deceased was named Fred C Hill, aged about 26 years, and that he recently arrived in this city from Puget Sound and that he came to his death from a pistol wound inflicted by his own hand.

THE LATE W W FRANCIS.

The unexpected death of W W Francis was the sad topic of conversation in all circles yesterday and sincere regret for his sudden taking off was expressed by all who knew him. The Willamette Rowing Club's house was draped in mourning, and flags were displayed at half-mast. The colors of the British bark Glencairn lying at the foot of Washington street were also hung at half mast. In order to avoid all danger of contagion the remains soon after death were hermetically sealed in a metallic casket.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at [illegible] o'clock from Trinity church, on which occasion Rev Geo F Plummer will deliver the discourse. Services at Lone Fir will be conducted by Hon R P Earhart, grand master of the Masons. The following organizations will attend the funeral: The British Benevolent Society of which the deceased was ex president and a life member; Multnomah Council of Kadosh Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons; Oregon commandery No 1 Knights Templar; Portland Royal Arch Chapter; Willamette lodge No 2 A F & A M, the Willamette Rowing Club and the Olympic Club. In respect to the memory of the deceased all the banks will close at 2 P M.

ESPINOSA CONCERT COMPANY.

Mr Eugene Schutz, the young agent and manager of the Espinosa Concert Company, in conjunction with Mr F W Steelman, has made arrangements for giving a concert at Vancouver to-morrow (Friday) evening. The company will leave here on the afternoon boat and return to the city Saturday in time for the matinee performance. On Monday the company will start up the Columbia, appearing at The Dalles on that evening. From that point they will leave for Walla Walla, where several performances will be given. Returning to Portland the company will visit the Sound and Victoria.

This evening the second concert of the series will be given at New Market Theater. A new and very attractive programme will be rendered. Mr Edgar Coursen, the young and accomplished violinist, will appear this evening in connection with the company. One of the most pleasing features of the concert will be a trio (from Mendelssohn) performed by Senor Espinosa (piano), Mr Coursen (violin) and Ernest Schmidt (violoncello). For the accommodation of ladies and children a matinee performance will be given Saturday afternoon. The company will appear in Portland for the last time Saturday evening.

METHODIST CONVENTION.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Morning Session.

Prayer meeting for half hour before the opening of the session, conducted by Rev N Doane.

At 9 o'clock Rev William Roberts, chairman, called the convention to order.

The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

On motion of Rev [illegible] it was ordered that a suitable book be procured in which to record the minutes of this convention.

The first topic of the day—"The work of the local preacher, his power and work in the church"—was taken up and led by Rev [illegible]. Mr [illegible] [illegible] preachers who [illegible] [illegible] their [illegible] [illegible] church.

Others followed in the discussion. Among the important suggestions [illegible] Rev Dr Mott was given [illegible] the work in England.

Rev Mr [illegible] was on motion made a member of the [illegible].

Mr [illegible] said he occupied an opposite position to that of the ministers [illegible] contributions. [illegible] was expected to contribute [illegible]. He spoke kindly of the [illegible] faith upon the subject. [illegible] the ministers [illegible] not be afraid to do it.

Rev [illegible] participated in the discussion.

The third topic, "Revivals [illegible]," [illegible] [illegible] interesting paper upon this topic. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. Rev Mr [illegible] [illegible].

The [illegible] topic, "[illegible]," meetings, prayer meetings, etc. Rev Dr Dill [illegible] this and the [illegible] were blended together and the social means of grace was regarded as affording members of the church an opportunity to [illegible].

The subject of class meetings was freely discussed. Several of the older members of the convention spoke of the great benefit the class meeting had been to them. Much interest was manifested in the discussion.

Moved that the essays by T L Jones and Dr Dill be published in the Advocate. Carried.

The morning session was well attended—an increase over the attendance of yesterday.

The convention adjourned to meet at 1 P M.

The convention will also hold a session this evening at 7 30 o'clock, at which time subjects of importance will be discussed.

Afternoon Session.

1 30 o'clock P M.—The topic—"Social Means of Grace—Prayer meetings, class meetings, etc"—was taken up and the discussion pending at the adjournment of the morning session was resumed. Revs Crozier, Alderson, Mrs Tuttle and others spoke. A stirring plea was made in favor of the class meeting.

At 2 30 Gov Gibbs was called to the chair and the topic "Elocution" was taken up and introduced by Rev Wm Roberts. The address on this topic was most excellent and occupied the whole time allotted for it.

At 3 15 the topic "Church finances, the stewards and trustees" was introduced by E J Northrup and followed by remarks by Mr Leabo, Mr Mott and others.

A resolution of thanks to the different railroad and steamboat companies for reduction of fares and for courtesies to members of this convention, also to the citizens of Portland for entertainment of delegates, and the ladies of Taylor street church for luncheon at noon each day of the session, was voted.

Mr Acton introduced the topic "Funerals, their Costliness, How to be Conducted, their Influences." His remarks were interesting and suggestive. He hoped the practice of wearing mourning would be abandoned. The cost was often hard to bear by the poor. He thought the churches and especially the rich of our churches, should set the example in this matter. Display at funerals should be avoided. He thought the habit of opening coffins at funerals should be abandoned—all display should be avoided. It seems to him better and more appropriate that sorrow seek retirement, that the relatives should take their leave of the dead not in the presence of the multitude but alone.

Mr Denison and others followed in the same strain. The remarks showed a strong desire to revolutionize the whole plan of funerals and greatly simplify the services and to reduce the expenses attending the same.

The hour having arrived the convention adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock this evening.

Evening Session.

At 7 30 o'clock the session was opened with religious services, Rev Roberts reading a portion of scripture. Col Cornelius led in prayer.

Rev Wm Roberts was in the chair.

Revs Fowler and Dennison moved that a convention similar to the one now in session be held in Salem some time in November and that the chair appoint a committee of five to make arrangements for the same. Carried.

The topic of the hour was "The Pacific Christian Advocate," was introduced by Rev H K Hines and ably presented by that gentleman.

A collection was taken up to defray the expenses incident to the convention amounting to $14 [illegible].

The second topic, "Education," was taken up and Rev Mr Dennison led the discussion.

The following resolutions were presented by Hon J I Caples and requested to be placed on record in the proceedings of the convention:

Resolved, That the delegates from the churches and Sunday schools of Taylor street, Hall street and East Portland, not only on behalf of themselves but speaking for the Methodism of Portland, East Portland and their respective vicinities, hereby tender our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to the delegates and friends in attendance upon the convention for their presence here and for the fervor and enthusiasm with which they have maintained the doctrines, usages and principles of our honored Methodism.

Resolved, That the work of this convention has been such under God as to encourage our hearts to braver and better efforts in behalf of our church and common humanity.

Resolved, That as the delegates return to their homes they bear with them one and all our best wishes for their happiness and prosperity, and should we never again be permitted to meet on earth, may we meet in that grand convention where the welcome greeting of "Well done good and faithful servant" shall be extended to us all.

The topic, "The Young People of the Church—Their Place and Power in the Church," was passed over on account of the lateness of the hour.

A closing address by Rev W G Simpson was delivered, and after singing the convention adjourned sine die.

There were present at the convention 150 delegates from Sunday schools and churches throughout the valley, and many visitors.

A vote of thanks was voted to the president and secretaries of the convention, and to the city papers for publishing in such a liberal manner the proceedings of the convention.

ENTIRE CHANGE.

Having just completed marking our goods at a

GREAT REDUCTION,

We are now prepared to offer our entire stock, which is complete in all its departments, at

SAN FRANCISCO'S LOWEST PRICES.

Why we have made this grand change is

1st. We are disposing of our retail business in San Francisco to make Portland our headquarters.

2d. Nearly all the desirable goods have been shipped up here to be sold.

3d. We have better facilities this year than ever before.

4th. We mean to lead the trade in our line, if the LOWEST prices for the BEST goods will bring it.

REMEMBER,

It is a pleasure, and not trouble, to show goods, when our prices invite opposition, but defy competition.

We can only repeat the above facts.

POLITICS IN NEW YORK.

SOME SURPRISING DEVELOPMENTS.

Conkling Understood to have been Beaten at Every Point Since Last June---Cornell and Arthur not Friends but Enemies.

[Special to the Chicago Tribune]

New York [illegible]—I telegraphed you on M[illegible] [illegible] that the [illegible] of the secretary of the treasury [illegible] upon the personal relations between Vice President Arthur and Gov Cornell [illegible] we the first and only paper to publish the true situation in this state as growing out of Gov Garfield's evident intention to name Judge Folger to the treasury portfolio. A friend who knows whereof he speaks expressed to me that Arthur and Cornell are not on speaking terms. Cornell long ago resented Arthur's jealousy of him and opposition to his nomination for governor extending over a period of four or five years. After Cornell became governor he was further incensed to see Arthur reach the vice presidency and the dislike between the two men and their friends could no longer be prevented was under obligations to both men and had received personal good treatment from both and there were substantial reasons why Arthur should have opposed Cornell for governor and why Cornell should have resented that opposition. Putting himself in the light of either, however, Conkling beheld an inevitable conflict. It was tolerably plain to him that he could far better rely on Gov Cornell's phlegmatic stolid temperament in which were the elements of sincerity than upon that Oriental vein running through Arthur in which was a little mite of treachery. Nevertheless Conkling kept his hands off the senatorial fight in which Cornell's candidate was Tom Platt and Arthur's candidate Dick Crowley. At the bottom of his boots however as his friends say

HE PREFERRED PLATT

The American temperament in Conkling takes up most naturally with Americans. Arthur has been training with the Irish politicians of New York and the state for many years past and with that race is in very close accord. Gen Arthur has not been friendly ever since the election of Cornell, who vetoed two bills Arthur was known to be interested in and made appointments without the slightest regard to Arthur's wishes. Arthur laid all these things to heart and the trouble began to be bruited about after the Chicago nomination. It was reported about that time that while Arthur and his associates such as Dorsey Starin Crowley Wheeler [illegible] had given their sympathy to Garfield Mr Conkling was getting insufferable that his nature had grown so peevish that there was no getting on with him, and some of them even said that his head was weak. In time however Conkling came around and also plunged into the campaign, and won considerable credit in the west though his failure to mention Garfield at the New York meetings is yet recalled by his enemies. Arthur got help from many of his democratic admirers and pulled the strings with such success in New York city that the Hancock vote fell away in the two cities to such an extent that the cry of fraud was raised among politicians. Arthur got the credit of having saved the day. Thus although the public regarded it as a great dramatic feat of Conkling to have made Cornell governor and Arthur vice president both events

HAPPENED WITHOUT HIS DESIGN OR DESIRE

Cornell forced himself to be governor on Conkling's unwilling wish and Arthur was nominated against Conkling's counsel. Of course, there was a bitter feeling after the presidency had been settled between Cornell and Arthur. After Crowley's defeat for the senatorship there remained only one chance for Gen Arthur to get even with the Platt wing of the party for the defeat he had suffered. He must have a hand in making the secretary of the treasury who would have the appointment to make of the collector of the port of New York which is

THE CITADEL OF REPUBLICAN MUNICIPAL POWER

He had already selected Judge Folger. Ex Senator Dorsey was used to impress on Garfield's mind the necessity for Folger. He went to Mentor and told Garfield who Folger was immediately after the election. He showed how Folger had been the leader of the state senate of New York for seven or eight years and had succeeded Dan Lutterfield as sub treasurer of the United States and was familiar with all the bankers in the city and had then been elected to the court of appeals of the state—one of two republicans out of seven men on the bench—and on the death of Chief Justice Church had been nominated by the governor of the state to be chief justice and had been confirmed in that place by the people by [illegible] 000 votes more than any body on the ticket. "Folger" said Dorsey, "has no enemies." He has reached the highest position in the state of New York. He stands to day

AS CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE DID IN OHIO

When he went to the head of the treasury under Lincoln. He put Mr Conkling into the senate in 1866. Garfield listened to all these things with interest and satisfaction. He did not know the hand that was driving Dorsey on to be the vice president's nor did he know what is known to but few, that during the contest between Crowley and Platt for senator Chief Justice Folger made his headquarters in Crowley's rooms. A prominent journalist said to day: Some think Senator Blaine favored Folger also and recommended him to Garfield. The Arthur wing of the party in New York is not as adverse to Blaine as the Cornell wing. The Cornell and Platt men would prefer Morton to be the secretary so they could run the custom house. When Garfield on Mr Conkling's visit to Mentor suggested Judge Folger for the treasury the senator could not say a word. Mr Conkling bowed his head and said he had no opposition to make to Judge Folger. He came back however, to New York with misgivings and some of his old friends said to him "You have walked right into the trap. It was for that you were invited there to be led on to Folger's name and to give your assent to it." The story of

THE CONSTERNATION IN NEW YORK CIRCLES

Is thus told to-night. Platt and Cornell were thunderstruck. They felt that with Folger at the head of the treasury the new collector of the port would be adverse to them as would the treasury appointments through the state. Conkling came to New York at six o'clock in the morning and was called upon at the hotel by Chief Justice Folger. Folger lost no time after expressing his thanks. He sped to Mentor, saw Garfield in person, and the slate was fixed. Meantime Gov Cornell came down to New York and a longer face has never been seen on that worthy's shoulders. Mr Platt also darted around [illegible]

GEN GRANT HAD TAKEN A HAND

In the various consultations proceeding. It was he who suggested that the idea be impressed on Garfield that senators with long terms to run ought not to be put into the cabinet, because it would start new petty quarrels and promote disorganization in the party. This was meant to rule out Allison and Windom, both Blaine men. Although Iowa gave the largest republican majority last year the seeds of disorganization are being sown there by Gov Gear who wants to go to the senate in place of Kirkwood

BLAINE HAS CONTROL OF IOWA

The whole of the Iowa country press, with the exception of one paper at Council Bluffs and another at Burlington is anti Grant. The promotion of Allison to the cabinet would make a vacancy and greatly bother the status quo. Conkling's friends have been telling him for some time that he does not want to make a secretary of the treasury from New York who with the vast power of that place, will set up for himself. "Any acute politician" said one of these Conkling gentry "can take the treasury department and the New York custom house and beat Conkling in New York in two years." He got his power in the state originally by capturing the custom house with Tom Murphy and Arthur both of whom are now for Folger
